

Database Trials at your Library

Last Updated Friday, 19 December 2008

The Library's Electronic Resources Committee continues to review new online resources in support of UTC's academic programs. Please read the following information to take advantage of the latest databases being offered as trials for UTC students, faculty, and staff.

We're Sorry!

There are no trials available at this time. Please continue to check this site for future trials. Thank you for your interest.

Other Comments or Questions about the Library?

Please send your questions and comments about trials or other library issues using our Contact Us form.