

About Instruction

Last Updated Tuesday, 18 August 2009

Library instruction offers your students an introduction to the research concepts, skills and resources that they will need to become effective users of information here at UTC and beyond.

Freshman Seminar

Also known as USTU125, this seminar is offered in a 2-part series. These sessions incorporate a team-based assignment that challenge first-year students to learn about the types of resources and services available in an academic library. Schedule a Freshman Seminar.

English 121 or 122

Library instruction is a mandatory component of both freshman level English courses. Students learn about appropriate methods for doing research using library and electronic resources. Schedule an English 121/122 class.

Customized Class

Any course with a research assignment is a perfect candidate for a library instruction session. Librarians can tailor a session to include particular discipline-specific databases and journals as well as advanced techniques. Schedule a Custom Class.

Face-to-Face Consultation

Any student or faculty needing assistance with research on specific projects can schedule a personal consultation with a librarian. Schedule a Consultation.

Have a look at our tips page for an effective library instruction class.